Musical tones are produced by musical instruments, or by the voice, which, from a physics perspective, is a very complex wind instrument. So the physics of music is the physics of the kinds of sounds these instruments can make. What kinds of sounds are these? They are tones caused by standing waves produced in or on the instrument.

Bridge—the bridge of your instrument plays the most important role in the sound your instrument produces. The bridge is perfectly positioned to transfer the vibrating energy of the strings to the body of your violin, and the air it contains. Mutes are used to effect its ability, by creating more mass that
